ASYLUM FAMILY WIN 'BEST' HOUSING RULING

IN A LANDMARK LEGAL RULING, the High Court last month directed that asylum seekers had the right of refusal as to where they were housed. Mr Justice Scott Baker said that councils had a legal duty to provide suitable accommodation and if necessary should "make economies elsewhere" to provide it.

A London Boroughs Association spokesman said that housing provision in London was already at 'crisis point'. Housing chiefs across the land have been caught out lying to the people after claiming that asylum seekers do not jump the housing queue. What happens is that asylum seekers are classified as 'emergency homeless' and on the housing points system immediately gain hundreds of points pushing them to the front of the queue.

In a desperate attempt to 'do something' Jack Straw has told lorry drivers that they face prosecution if immigrants are found in the backs of their lorries. Holding lorry drivers culpable is a cynical government get-out to excuse government inaction and its inability to deal with a situation which threatens to overwhelm the entire country.

These refugees are from Liberia. Tens of millions more from E. Europe, Africa and elsewhere want to come here and sign on.

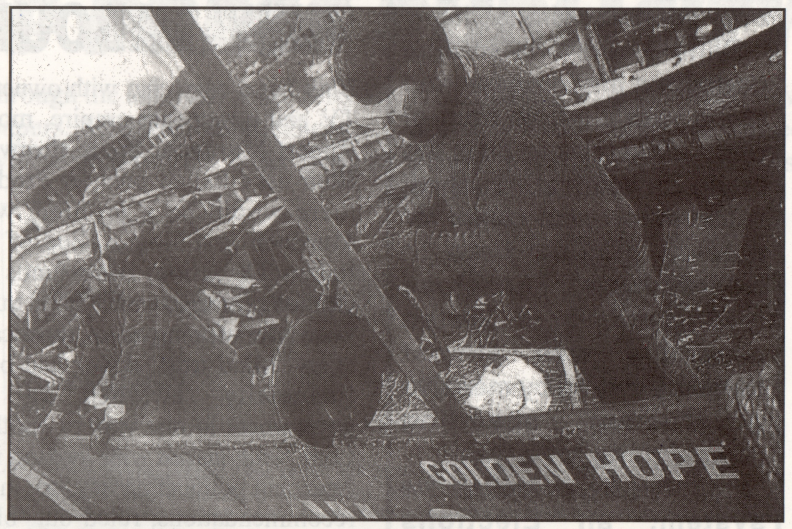

GOVERNMENT DEALS DEATH BLOW TO THE FISHING INDUSTRY

THE GOVERNMENT has revealed it's hand in the DELIBERATE destruction of the nation's fishing industry.

New rules laid down by the government's Marine and Coastguard Agency (MCA) safety officials require full structural surveys on boats under 12 metres every five years. Fees will cost fishermen £60 per hour. Non compliance with the Euro rules mean that fishermen will be prosecuted, have their vessels seized and de-registered. Compliance will cost fishermen thousands of pounds per vessel.

Since the regulations were announced, however, it has been discovered that there is no such Euro safety regulation at all! The whole exercise is simply one of coercing fishermen to give up their livelihoods as a bad job. Clearly, fishermen unable to afford the structural survey, estimated at about £1,000 a time, will be forced out of business.

That is very possibly the aim of what is quite obviously a deliberate policy of forcing fishermen on to land. Crucially, such fishermen will not be compensated as they would under previous 'decommissioning schemes' prompting accusations that this is decommissioning on the cheap. The new lifejackets the MCA wants fishermen to wear are a safety hazard because they are so bulky. Fishermen cannot even pass through wheelhouse doors in them!

Cutting up the fleet: Decommissioning is destroying livelihoods

Tony Bastin, a small vessel skipper wants to wear his usual lifeguard type jacket. The impending costs involved, he says, will ruin him: "The average fisherman running a small boat takes home about £12,000 per year."

To add insult to injury, 200 small boat West Country fishermen have been told by the Ministry of Agriculture Fisheries and Food (MAFF) in early September that no sole can be caught as fishermen have already used their quota. But the sole fishing season didn't even start until late August! The ban covers British fishing grounds — the richest in Europe. Foreign fishermen meanwhile will be allowed to catch anything they please. What a farce!

LABOUR —OPENLY CORRUPT

The scandal of foreign funding of political parties and the resultant pay-offs was supposed to be ended by the public standards watchdog Lord Neill. His report detailed 100 recommendations to restore at least some honesty and openness to political life.

Blind trusts and foreign donations are to be banned along with a whole host of other measures to stop the buying of political influence.

The report also called for a level playing field in referendums. The close 'yes' vote for a Welsh assembly was almost certainly swung by massive government spending campaigning for a 'yes'.

Importantly, to police the system, an Elections Commission is to be created to enforce the rules.

Scarcely had the report come out, however, than Peter Mandleson the Trade Secretary signalled that Labour would ignore Neill's demand for a level playing field on referendums, showing that Labour intends not to ask the people for their verdict on joining the Euro currency, but to BUY their assent.

Jack Straw also weighed in saying that the government would be sending a booklet putting the government's case for the Euro to every home in the land. This will involve millions of pounds of taxpayer's money, thieved for the purpose by Chancellor Gordon Brown when he stole it from the country's emergency reserve account.

The corruption and manipulation involved is blatant. Where are the screams of outrage?

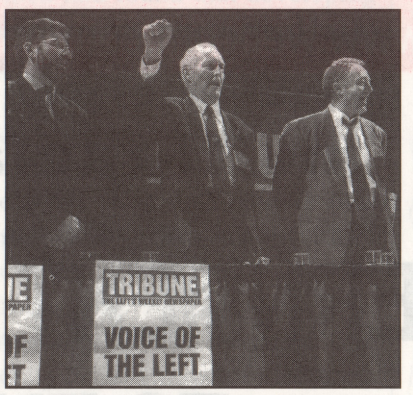

NOTICE

Sharp-eyed readers will have noticed a few printing anomolies in the last issue relating to unusual looking fonts. This was due to a technical problem relating to the use of an apple Mac image bureau to produce the films used for BN, instead of the camera ready artwork hitherto supplied. Incompat-abilities between the apple Mac and PC computer platforms led to the misinterpreted fonts. It is hoped that these teething problems will be resolved as of this issue. If not, then the next!

IRA WIN THE LONG WAR AS GOVERNMENT SURRENDERS ARMS AND PAYS DANEGELD

IRA men are being 'recompensed' for their sacrifice in winning the war over Ulster. After bombing and murdering for thirty years, their efforts are finally being recognised and rewarded. IRA inmates of Long Kesh have received a £76,000 payout as compensation for property damaged in cell searches after an escape tunnel was discovered last year. Prisoners with combined property values of £76,000? BN doubts it.

More recently still, it has been suggested within government circles that after blowing women and children to bits, IRA ex-prisoners should be given £10,000 per head to help them start a new life.

IRA man Adams with Tony Benn and Ken Livingstone MPs.

This might have something to do with the fact that at Labour's conference in September, Gerry Adams attended and told Blair to pull out of Ulster. Speaking at a Tribune rally at the conference, Adams told Blair to preside over a transfer of sovereignty because the union could: "only be maintained through repression."

The world is still waiting for the IRA to hand in its weapons in so-called decommissioning. That won't happen since the victor army never disarms, only the vanquished. Late last month, soldiers from the Royal Irish Regiment were told by the Northern Ireland Office to hand in their personal weapons. So far 200 soldiers, many of them serving in dangerous border areas have been forced to surrender their arms. More are to give up their weapons which are solely for personal protection from murderous IRA attacks.

IMMIGRATION DESTROYS CIVILISATIONS!

'NEW' LABOUR: SQUALID CRIMINALS AND POLITICAL CREEPS

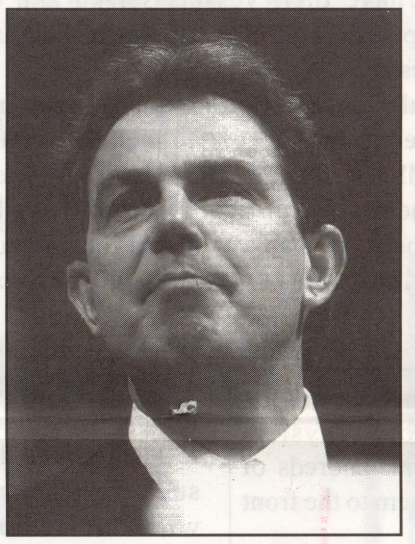

Blair has a cosy chat with owner of TV and newspaper empire, mogul Rupert Murdoch. Soon afterward Blair asks Italian premier Prodi if there would be a problem with Murdoch grabbing a slice of the Italian TV action; Blair funds his election campaign with a 'blind trust'. Soon after winning office, practically every 'blind trust' donor had been financially rewarded by the government in one way or another. Lord Neill, tasked with looking into financing political parties has, in his recommendations, ruled out 'blind trusts', alongside foreign donations used by heroin crime bosses to finance the Tories.

Chancellor Brown has robbed the national lottery of money from good causes like charities to finance normal government expenditure, something that had been specifically ruled out at its inception. No-one bats an eyelid.

A natural recividist, Brown has also robbed the country's emergency reserve account of £6.4 million for propaganda purposes. This money is being held ready to spend for the 'Yes' campaign in the referendum to be held as to whether to accept the Euro, otherwise known as the future occupation currency.

Readers can imagine if a civil servant stole the £6.4 million and gave it to the BNP to spend on an anti-EU campaign. Would the response be: "Oh that's all right then, nothing to be said, carry on as usual"? No it would not! He would be instantly dismissed and then arrested for embezzlement.

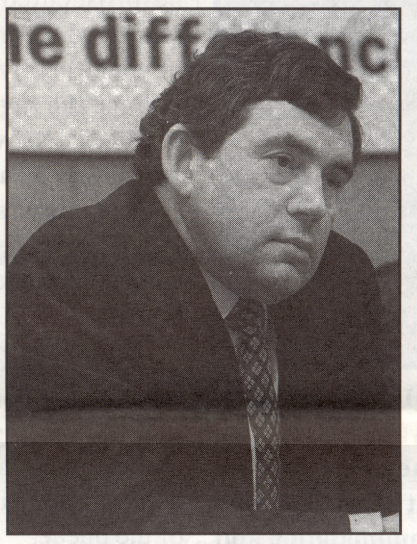

HUMBUG

Prime Minister Blair

Blair has also recently been to China. It was not revealed as to whether he met any heroin crime bosses in his quest to fund Labour. It was revealed, however, that hypocrite Blair, the world's most sanctimonious humbug moralised to his Chinese hosts about the virtues of allowing political opposition without prosecuting and imprisoning them.

THIEF

Chancellor of the Exchquer Brown

What a nerve! Perhaps Blair isn't aware (like Stalin wasn't aware of the deaths of 30 million Russians maybe?) that Briton's are regularly hauled up before British courts for pointing out not only that immigration isn't as wonderful as some would have it, but also that some immigrants themselves are also less than wonderful.

In April of this year, BNP Director of Publicity Nick Griffin was found guilty of 'inciting race hatred'. Sounds horrendous doesn't it? What it amounted to was that Nick said: 'Wanted more white children', published a picture of a beautiful Viking girl looking out to sea and made it clear that he thought that Jamaican immigrant Ray Lee, who murdered policeman, Pc Phillip Walters had not proved immigration to be a total success!

For this heinous 'crime', Nick was sentenced to nine months imprisonment. He was fortunate indeed that this sentence was suspended.

It also worth pointing out that under this evil legislation, the truth is no defence in law. Monstrous isn't it? But that's the law in dear old 'democratic', 'free' Britain.

That's why the BNP is committed to free speech. Having known repression, the BNP believes that everyone should have the freedom to dissent. BNP — the Freedom Party!

THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH

I sympathise with Mr and Mrs Lawrence over the horible murder of their son Stephen. I do not, however, sympathise with their behaviour at the Stephen Lawrence Inquiry. I am sick and tired of their hectoring and their arrogance.

For grievous though their loss was, what of the far more numerous white victims of black and Asian violence? Are they of no account? Is there to be an inquiry into every unsolved murder? If not, why not? Are the police to engage in an orgy of masochistic self-flagellation every time they fail to convict on flimsy evidence?

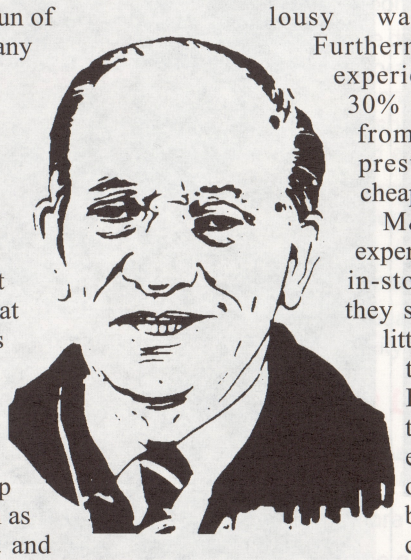

Furthermore, how long is this interminable saga going to continue with no less than three highly-paid QC's harassing and badgering witnesses in an attempt to establish 'racism.'

This 'inquiry' has now degenerated into a positive orgy of ethno-masochism. Even the TUC finds it necessary to grovel. Tony Blair grovels. Jack Straw grovels and Sir Paul Condon grovels.

The 'Inquiry' has now taken on a life of its own. It is now an all-singing, all-dancing, all-grovelling extravaganza. Why they've even taken the show on tour. It was in Manchester just a little while ago in order that the Chief Constable of Manchester, David Wilmot, should not be denied his opportunity to grovel as well!

Further visits by the Lawrence extravaganza to Bradford and Bristol are planned. Soon, no doubt, it will be on tour in every town, village and hamlet throughout the land. It seems destined to beat the run of The Mousetrap by many a mile.

THE GREAT BRITISH EXPORT

There is no doubt as to which is the greatest British exporting success — it is jobs. The news that Marks & Spencer has ordered its suppliers such as Dewhirst, Coats Vyella, and Courtaulds to relocate jobs in cheap labour countries such as Morocco, Sri Lanka and Indonesia should come as no surprise to anyone. After all, in the global village and the global market place — brothers, we're all coolies now!

Marks & Spencer have a strangle-hold on their suppliers. There have been many of their suppliers who have been driven close to bankruptcy by M&S whims and their demands for price reductions. Once they have them in their clutches, they squeeze them dry.

As for their proud claim that they buy 70% of their supplies from British producers; that is scarcely a hardship since British textile manufacturers pay lousy wages anyway. Furthermore, from my experience, the other 30% seems to come from Israel, presumably using cheap Arab labour.

M&S are very expensive. With their in-store credit cards they squeeze just that little bit more out of their customers. Indeed, they are the most expensive of any of the large home-based retail chains. So expensive that they have lost 10% of their business — a far cry from the days when they were a cut-price Jewish bazaar. No doubt that is why Margaret Thatcher, with her Finchley connections, has always admired them so much.

Another favourite of Margaret Thatcher — indeed, it is said, her very favourite businessman of all — is Lord Sterling, who, despite his apparent resounding Englishness, is also of dubious ancestry. Lord Sterling, as Chairman of the P&O shipping line, insisted that British seamen on cross-channel ferries should accept a 'revision of their contracts of employment' or be made redundant and be replaced by foreign seamen. Lord Sterling it also was who insisted that British seamen on cruise liners be replaced by lascars. Now Lord Sterling is at it again. British seamen manning British registered container ships and bulk carriers operating between Britain and the Far East are to be sacked and replaced by Filipino seamen. British seamen, it is said, are far too expensive despite the fact that crew numbers on modern ships are minimal.

What then of the brave British merchant seamen who manned British ships during the Falklands war? Would Filipinos be happy to put their lives on the line for us? Could we ever dream of mounting such an operation again?

How does the song go? "Heart of oak are our ships, heart of oak are our Filipinos." Somehow that just doesn't scan.

LONDON ROCK-BOTTOM IN LITERACY

This report by the London Evening Standard education correspondent Joel Wolchover reviewed a survey conducted by the government's Basic Skills Agency.

This found that 16 per cent of Britain's population is functionally illiterate and that one in three adults cannot handle the simplest maths question. Wolchover continued:

'In London, the picture is even worse, with up to half the adults in some boroughs unable to do sums that would enable them to make sense of a train timetable or add the cost of three items of shopping.

'Out of more than 130 local authorities, London boroughs took four of the bottom five places for levels of literacy, with almost a quarter of the adults in some areas unable to read parcel labels.'

Persons for whom English is a second language were not included in these tests. So the full extent of the problem is even worse and has been covered up.

Whites too are being found to be educationally sub-standard.

Two reasons for this are: 1) White children who find themselves in classes where 80 or 90 per cent of their classmates are aliens lose track of their own heritage and become rootless and dysfunctional. In addition, teachers neglect them to spend more time teaching non-English speakers basic English; 2) Schools are at the forefront of multi-racial propaganda. But in order to promote multi-racialism, educational standards have slipped.

This policy has permeated throughout the education system, even in areas where there are few or no ethnic minority pupils.

Such 'dumbing-down' trends, coupled with the relaxation of traditional standards of discipline have had a terrible impact on less academically-inclined pupils from white, working-class backgrounds.

Any who doubt this should ask themselves why Tony Blair sent his two lads to the Oratory School in a posh part of west London rather than to the comprehensive school near his former Islington home.

A comparison of the two schools' examination results followed by a peep into their respective playgrounds should provide the answer for all those still capable of accepting the evidence of their own eyes.

DRUGS & VIOLENCE HIT NEW HIGH

The first point of significance about this Evening Standard report was that its author, Julia Hartley-Brewer, is a member of the paper's political and not its crime staff:

'Drug crime in London soared by 30 per cent last year as the tide of violent crime in the capital continued to rise... Despite the government's vigorous campaign against drug barons and dealers, the police recorded 4,822 offences in the trafficking of drugs, a rise of 1,118 on 1996...'

The huge increase in drugs crime is linked to the increase in violent crimes such as mugging. A survey published by the Standing Conference on Drug Abuse (Scoda) in April 1998, revealed:

'Some 20 per cent of criminals are testing positive for heroin or cocaine ... A drug user that is an addict will be committing something in the order of five crimes a week.'

Further gloom was added by a report that heroin dealers are selling 'fixes' to "young rich kids" for the price of a pint of beer in order to get a foothold in a market currently dominated by cocaine.

Once city 'whiz-kid' types have spent their cash and hocked their property, the incidence of fraud and embezzlement will surely increase as they become desperate for a 'fix'.

The injury this will inflict on the nation's commercial life and reputation — particularly in the case of City financial institutions where young people handle multi-million pound transactions — cannot be overstated.

Commentators are shy of making a linkage between the drugs/crime crisis and the development of the 'multi-cultural society'.

There was no major hard-drugs problem in Britain before WW2. Drug abuse was unheard of among ordinary people. Consequently, there was nothing like the level of crime which we now experience.

The post-war drugs culture was imported:

Firstly, by immigrants who had a tradition of 'personal use' of cannabis; secondly, by others who promoted heroin use from their native lands as a business; thirdly, by 'Yardie' gangsters who manage the importation of cocaine on behalf of the big South American 'cartels'.

WHITE PUPILS NOW A MINORITY

This report by Daily Telegraph education editor John Clare, commenced:

'Fifty years after the first new Commonwealth immigrants arrived in Britain, Black and Asian children now form the majority of pupils in inner London schools... For the first time, White pupils in 900 primary and secondary schools are in a minority, a London Research Centre study found. In the 12 inner London boroughs, White children made up 45 per cent of the roll in primary schools, 49 per cent in secondary schools — 47 per cent overall.

Black children from Caribbean and African backgrounds accounted for 29 per cent. Those of Asian immigrants

Blair, like all the rest, positively drools over the multi-racial 'ideal'

— from Bangladesh, India and Pakistan — made up 15 per cent The rest were Chinese and other groups... The higher birthrate in Black and Asian communities suggests that the proportion of Whites in inner London schools and parts of the Midlands will continue to decline...'

The report went on to record that half of inner London's 240,000 pupils were entitled to free meals, mostly because their parents were unemployed. A third did not have English as first language.

Eleven of the twelve inner London boroughs came in the bottom half of the 1997 secondary educational league tables which record the proportion of pupils passing at least five GCSEs from grades A to C.

Clare, a multi-racial zealot, claims that these results were not surprising: 'given the correlation between economic disadvantage and poor exam results'.

This excuse is, of course, multi-racial propaganda dressed-up as scholarship.

Children of the pre-WW2 era — from desperately deprived homes, attending over-crowded and chronically under-funded council schools — acquired by the age of 12 a degree of literacy and numeracy which should be the envy of today's 16-year-old inner-city school leavers.

Figures produced by the London Research centre study of 20 outer London boroughs show that schools in Brent, Ealing, Haringey and Newham all featured in the bottom half of the school league tables.

These boroughs are noted for the huge extent of their multi-racial 'enrichment'.

Thus the capital city of a nation once proudly aware of its identity and heritage is now sinking into a morass of intellectual mediocrity and educational squalor.

UNDER-AGE PREGNANCIES SOAR

This report by Daily Telegraph health correspondent David Fletcher, was the most serious of the four reports under review since it dealt with a phenomenon which will exacerbate the social disintegration examined in the other three reports. It commenced:

'Pregnancies among girls aged under 16 have risen for the third year running to reach the highest level for 11 years, according to official figures released today. The figures add urgency to a government programme ... to find ways of tackling teenage pregnancy, now the highest in Europe.

'Figures from the Office for National Statistics showed that 8,829 under-age girls became pregnant in 1996, the highest level since 1985 when there were 9,406... The average pregnancy rate among girls under 16 reached 9.4 per 1,000 in 1996, 10 per cent higher than the previous year, but the average masks extremely high rates in some parts of the country.

The highest was in Lambeth, Southwark and Lewisham Health Authority area in south London, where the rate among 14 and 15-year-olds soared to 17.6 per 1,000... A total of 459 girls under 14 became pregnant in 1996. Nearly 2000 were 14 and more than 6,300 were 15...'

These boroughs — Southwark, Lambeth and Lewisham are also noted for their multi-racial 'enrichment'.

Apologists for multi-racialism gloss over the growth of single parenthood and dissolution of the family.

But evidence exists to indicate that children raised in single households, tend to become a burden on income tax and council tax payers, among whom their natural parents tend not to be strongly represented.

For example, a link between the lack of a stable family background and anti-social behaviour was an issue canvassed during the recent trial of primary school children involved in a Shepherds Bush school lavatory gang rape.

And the May 1998 issue of Adoption and Fostering published details of a study which found:

'Children brought up by single mothers are twice as likely to commit criminal offences... and are likely to be far more liable to abuse drink and drugs'.

As the number of inner-city illegitimates is set to grow exponentially, associated problems will likewise increase at an uncontrollable rate.

This will affect every aspect of our daily life, first in London, then throughout the rest of the country.

The rich will be able to achieve a measure of safety by retreating behind the walls of fortified condominiums. The rest will have to fend for themselves as best they can.

NIGHTMARE PROSPECT

And what is the government's strategy to ward off this nightmare prospect?

It intends to plant articles in magazines aimed at teenage girls, advising them about contraception techniques.

The genius who thought up that master stroke (Public Health Minister Tessa Jowell) is either too naive to realise, or too 'politically correct' to admit, that the kind of inner-city girl at risk of impregnation will probably be functionally illiterate and so unable to read even the most moronic 'teen' magazines; and will in any case live in a 'culture' in which males routinely impose themselves on young girls, disdaining any impediment to instant gratification.

This is the reality of 'multi-culturalism'.

LIBERTY AND FREE SPEECH NOW!

Police are to be able to intercept private e-mails without obtaining a warrant, under a new agreement being finalised with Internet Service Providers (ISP). While police do need a warrant to open letters and obtain telephone taps, because the law was framed before the advent of e-mail, police hope to snoop like big brother in what is clearly a loophole in the law against intrusion.

● And Big Brother really is watching you. MI5 have admitted to holding files on 440,000 people. Of these, 20,000 are 'active' files and 7,000 of these are of foreigners living in Britain. Jack Straw, the Home Secretary and former 'subversive' has had his file on himself destroyed. MI5 employs 1,860 and spends £140 million per year according to its own figures.

● In a further move to buttress what is the least 'free' and 'democratic' police state in Western Europe, 22,000 defendants per year are to lose their right to jury trial. This move further erodes the jury system which has already seen the loss of the ancient right of jury challenge.

● Jack Straw is also proposing that citizens not convicted of any crime have their assets seized if it thought 'likely' that they be the proceeds of crime. This is the procedure in the soviet republic of Amerika. Police agencies routinely seize the assets of any 'suspects' and keep a proportion of the loot. In the US, there is no means of appeal! People have been and are targeted because they are personal enemies of local police cheifs and this is the system Straw wants for Britain! So serious are the abuses in Amerika that under intense pressure, the US is backing away from the process and a repeal of their confiscatory laws are expected soon.

● The American ISP AOL has removed a Christian website because it is 'offensive' to Muslims. Christians challenged by Muslims to produce a book like that of the Koran promptly did so, setting out biblical tracts in Koranic form. AOL caved in to Muslim threats. Protests against this censorship can be lodged at abuse-response@uk.uu.net BN subscribers are urged to boycott AOL and subscribe elsewhere.

● Government critic Colin Jordan has had his home raided in a KGB-style operation by CID police officers, who seized masses of Jordan's personal property which allegedly infringed the 1986 Public Order Act, s24(i). The 4 hour raid is being seen as police retaliation for their 1991 debacle when they seized similar items under the same charge. The seizure was made under an invalid warrant which was whitewashed by the Attorney-General. The 1991 prosecution was only stopped because of Jordan's resort to the High Court and his application for a Judicial Review. The Chief Constable of North Yorkshire backed off, admitted his force's illegalities and in 1994, paid Jordan £4,000 costs and £10,000 damages.

This police vindictiveness is once again being challenged by Mr. Jordan. He has applied to Harrogate magistrates for a summons against D.S. Dobson of HQ CID requiring the return under the Police (property) Act 1897 of all items not likely to be required as evidence. Under the Act, relevancy has to be established prior to removal. The police have, therefore, broken the law and costs loom once again...

Mr. Jordan,75, has said: "I shall be fighting this communistic oppression as best I can."

THE 'LIBERAL' POLITICALLY CORRECT TERROR

Walls the icecream maker has scrapped a new logo after claims that the logo 'resembled' the Arabic word for Allah.

The 'resemblence' is only noticeable after flipping the heart shaped logo upside down and reading it in a mirror back to front. Walls have apologised for this crass 'blunder'. Last year, Nike, the sportswear manufacturer recalled thousands of pounds worth of trainers because of a similar 'error' — a flame logo which, when seen at a certain angle could, if the viewer s k w i n t e d particularly hard, also look like the word Allah.

BN asks has the world gone stark starring mad? The answer is, apparently, yes!

MEPS FIRMLY ON GRAVY TRAIN

The proposal that Euro MPs be payed their actual travel expenses rather than what it would cost on a first class flight (plus 30%) to and from Strasbourg was defeated by the dishonest and greedy pigs in the European parliament.

EUROPEAN (EU) EMPIRE SOON

The recent EU summit revealed the drive to a European Empire by stealth. An EU-wide income tax has been proposed by Spain. This idea will quietly be allowed to gain momentum as will the benefits of the Ecu — the occupation currency.

LAST CHANCE... LAST CHANCE... LAST CHANCE

JOIN THE BNP'S ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY CLUB

ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY! The traditional cry of triumph when a darts player gets three triple twenties now takes on a special meaning for the British National Party as well. As detailed in last month's BN, The One Hundred And Eighty Club will exist for just one year, but it is going to make a major contribution to the growth of the BNP. Members will pay £180 in a single donation, or £15 per month for twelve months. Every penny raised in this way will go towards the party's Euro-Election Fund.

One Hundred and Eighty Club members will receive special bulletins and be invited to attend an exclusive 180 Club meeting and pre-Christmas buffet next year. In addition, 180 Club members will be entered into a special draw in which the lucky winner will receive £250 in cash and a Yuletide hamper.

Already, the scheme has been well received. Many have already joined and sent either their first £15 or the full £180 in one go.

THIS IS YOUR LAST CHANCE to join because of the 12-month cut off date. So if you want to really help and make a worthwhile financial contribution, then JOIN NOW!

Send your first contribution of £15 or a one-off donation of at least £180.

In return, you will get a completed 180 Club card in the case of a £180+ donation, or the first stamp in a 180 Club card, ready for further contributions.

In order to avoid adding to the already heavy workload on the staff at the usual Welling PO Box, the One Hundred and Eighty Club will be administered from P.O. Box 14, Welshpool, Powys, SY21 0WE. Cheques and POs should be made payable to 'One Hundred and Eighty Club.' Please do not send cash.

BN* will announce the number who have joined next month, confident that our readers will make the One Hundred and Eighty Club a great success.

AUSTRALIA

'Australia spurn Hanson', 'Hanson left reeling', 'Election rout for far-right'. All these headlines and more greeted the recent election result in Australia. BN readers might be forgiven for thinking that this result saw Hanson's 18-month-old One Nation Party wiped out. They would, however, be wrong.

One Nation was hyped up with false expectations of winning 12 seats to make the eventual result look less good. One Nation actually scored a very good 9 per cent of the poll and took a seat in the national parliament. Winning more than one million votes, One Nation polled more than the Democrats and Greens combined. Their vote makes One Nation Australia's third largest party. Some 'rout'!

FOREIGN NEWS

Looked at dispassionately, a patriotic party only 18 months old polling 9 % and getting a seat in the federal parliament has to be regarded as a great success. Well done Pauline, well done One Nation!

Hanson's One Nation took 9% and one seat in its first nationwide federal outing

SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa's idiots, that is to say the white fools who campaigned so 'splendidly' for their own extinction have suddenly woken up to the facts of race.

Mandi Smallhorne, described as: 'a member of that gallant band of white women who campaigned against apartheid' wrote in a Johannesburg newspaper: 'In the old South Africa a significant number of people of darker hues welcomed me because of my anti-apartheid views. In the new South Africa I am treated with contempt and hatred, for no other reason than that I have a white skin.'

The Mail&Guardian has exposed predominently black corruption in the government and been attacked for doing so, because it: 'violates the rights of black people to equality'. Have the idiots got it yet?

[On] New Labour's control freaks. To paraphrase pastor Niemoller: "First they came for Ken Coates and Hugh Kerr and then they came for Carole Tongue." In all, nineteen MEPs have been effectively purged. New Labour is New Autocracy.

So many asylum seekers are pouring into this country, notably from the Balkans and other parts of Eastern Europe, that the authorities here are finding they simply cannot cope.

In Kent in particular, social services are stretched to the limit as illegal immigrants turn up at the Channel ports.

Former Army barracks are being prepared to house some of them... Almost 4,500 people a month are claiming asylum here and the number is rising.

Word has travelled far and wide about the generosity of our social security system. Even the genuinely persecuted Kosovans show a certain shrewdness in fleeing not to neighbouring peaceful countries, but right across Europe to Britain. We are being targeted, exploited and taken for a ride.

Are not ethics meant to be a set of beliefs that society subscribes to on the basis that they secure the health and happiness of mankind? How can we then possibly oppose on ethical grounds the development of genetic technology that seeks to eradicate diseases that do nothing but create misery and trauma for those afflicted and their families?

If designer babies, or babies 'produced according to genetic recipes', mean healthy babies with good life prospects then let's get designing. Let's not let whirlwind fantasies and hysterical 'what if?' questions stand in the way of developing technologies which may vastly improve the health and happiness of future generations.
Clare Murphy, letters, The Guardian.

The average native Brit will spare no tears or sympathy for the illegal immigrants being smuggled into this country, contrary to the suggestion in your comment column. They pay smugglers to get them here in the knowledge that we are too soft to turf them out again. They look upon it as a good investment because once here they are given free accommodation and cash handouts for years. They have no right to be here and we don't want them on our taxes.

Flattening the slums is a soundbite with form. Downing Street's promise to demolish Britain's worst sink estates raises the spectre of the post-war slum clearances that created ghettos in the sky, shattered communities and left an enduring legacy of social problems and rescue initiatives, to which last week's report by the social exclusion unit was merely the latest contribution.

Of course rotten housing design has contributed greatly to vandalism, isolation and social neglect. But governments wrongly believed that if they changed the environment for the better, they would create social justice. They failed to grasp they needed not to raze buildings but to raise aspirations.

Housing isn't the root problem. Some of these sink estates, says the report, are built to a traditional design that would sell for six-figure sums elsewhere. Nor are unemployment or poverty straight-forward explanations.

Some of these estates are only a stone's throw from areas where employers can't fill their vacancies. Some of the worst poverty, among lone parents, is not itself the cause of deprivation. Instead, such poverty is the outcome of the behaviour and attitudes which have brought about the lone parenthood in the first place.
Melanie Phillips, The Times.

MPs concerned about interest rates and how the level of the pound destroys jobs are telling Eddie George that he should resign for saying that one interest rate does affect Britain"s regions differently.

Can anybody out there tell me what influence any British government could possibly have in a similar situation once we are signed up to a single currency? Interest rates will be set across Europe by unelected bankers whom we will not be able to get rid of. They will not be allowed to indulge any national interest, let alone regional interests.
Paul Sykes, letters, Daily Telegraph.

STOP LABOUR'S ATTACK ON THE WELFARE STATE!

Last year, many people voted Labour to rid the country of the Tories and bring an end to their corruption and the misery they imposed. Many hoped that Labour would reverse the cuts that the Tories had made. Thousands have been disillusioned as it has become apparent that Labour will simply follow the Tories' heartless policies even more brutally. They are getting away with it in a way that the Tories never could, simply because they are Labour.

Old folk have seen hopes of a fairer pension dashed with yet another Labour 'review'. Meanwhile they have been given a £20 sop over the winter to keep them quiet. The scandal is that since Thatcher broke the earnings-related link with pensions, pensioners are now down £23 per week. OAPs must wonder whether they really did finish on the winning side in the war, when Germany can treat its old folk so much better.

LABOUR'S BROKEN PROMISES

After breaking their promises to pensioners, Labour put the boot into students hoping for a decent education. Labour says that students must take on crippling debt if they want to go on to university. The Labour politicians who say this have already had their free education!

Showing their contempt for ordinary people even further, Labour are punishing abandoned single parents by confiscating their benefits, and the next on the hit-list are the sick in receipt of sickness benefit. Labour hope that cutting the pittance of those on sickness benefit will rake in even more money than attacking single mums. Welfare to work, may all be very well, but there has to be jobs out there in the first place!

For many who voted 'new' Labour, the penny is starting to drop. 'New Labour = Old Tories; Tony Blair is Tory Blair. Labour are the Tory Party in disguise! The Labour party has abandoned ordinary working people. Labour are more interested in 'gays', ethnics and their rich money-bags backers. The British National Party says it's time to stop wasting £millions on over-paid advisory committees stuffed with Labour councillors, bogus asylum-seekers, and foreign handouts. The BNP says: stop the cuts and put our own people FIRST!

STOP THE RACE ATTACKS!

FROM THIS TO THIS and all 'thanks' to multiracialism

A White boy lies in a coma close to death on a life support machine because politicians have forced an unworkable multi-racialism upon us with all the violence that entails.

Little Daniel Moore, aged 12, was attacked by a gang of 20 racist Asians armed with bricks, bottles and lumps of wood. He had been playing football with two friends when the 20 older youths chased the three, screaming: "You pieces of white trash." Poor Daniel couldn't get away and stood no chance as the 20 battered him near to death. It wouldn't be acceptable if whites had attacked an Asian boy and this attack is not acceptable either. While the media took up the story, there was no linking of this attack to others showing a definite trend of attacks against whites.

Only four months before this, an eight-year-old in Halifax was racially attacked by three older Asians who beat him, set him on fire and ran off laughing. At the same time in London, 15 white boys playing football, aged 14-16, were attacked by 20 older Asians armed with knives, bottles and axes. More Asians joined in to ensure that the boys could not escape, and horrific injuries were inflicted. There is a near conspiracy of silence in the media about these and other attacks. LAST YEAR NO FEWER THAN FOUR WHITES WERE MURDERED BECAUSE OF THE COLOUR OF THEIR SKIN: Christopher Farrell, Andrew Steventon, Mark Sharp and Danny Westmacott. But the media only talk about the murder of black Stephen Lawrence. Don't white victims count? Is the BNP the only group speaking upforwhite people and against the violence? Yes! But you'll not be reading that in the controlled media!

The BNP says: stop the racial attacks — ALL OF THEM!

BNP VIDEOS BNP VIDEOS BNP VIDEOS

For the first time, the British National Party is taking advantage of the video revolution to bring it's message into your drawing room!

This short film has been made in support of BNP candidates in the coming local government elections in East London. Some candidates and one ordinary voter are featured in the film talking about the important local issues on which the BNP will be fighting – issues which the Labour, Tory and LibDem parties prefer to ignore.

Also included in the film is the party election broadcast made by BNP leader John Tyndall, which was shown to the whole nation just before the general election of May 1997. If you missed this, now's your chance to see it!

VOTE BNP — ELECTION '98

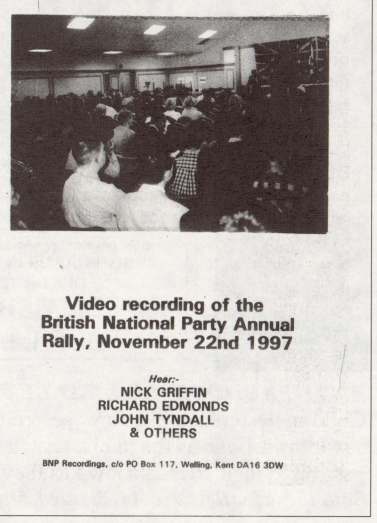

This outstanding video was put out in three of the party's best seats for May's council elections. The War to End All Wars

Eighty years ago this month Britain saw in the Armistice which ended the First World War — supposedly the war to end all wars. It didn't, of course. War is a recurring theme of history which all governments ought to take great care to avoid. Grubby politicians being what they are will always support a war from the most base motives.

This Christmas, spare a thought for our British troops deployed in the former Yugoslavia for a cause not our own. Nearly two-dozen British troops have died there for no good reason except to give Messrs. Major, Blair and Cook — sanctimonious liberals all — a righteous warm glow.

In Memory of The Fallen

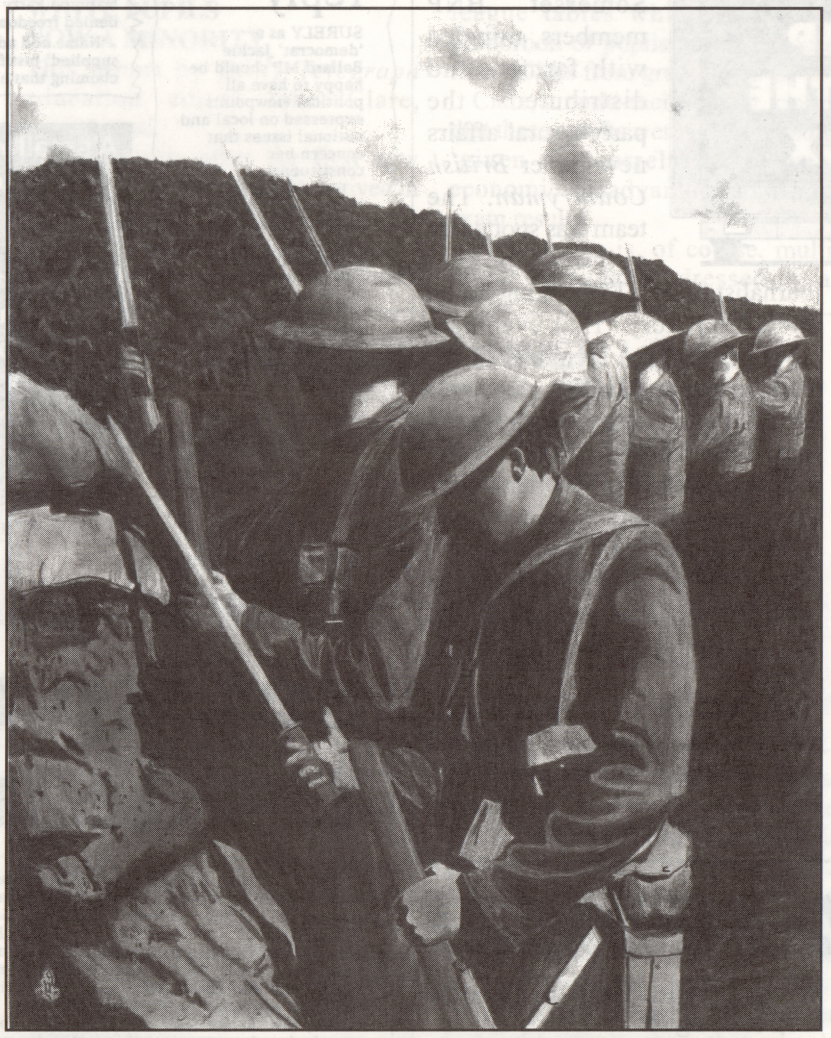

Bleached white stones, crosses on a foreign hill,
A scene so peaceful and yet so still,
But this is not as it's always been,
Here men fought, died — a tragic scene,
For this is where a war was waged,
This is where the Brothers' War raged.

Here guns roared and took their spoil,
Men fell upon that foreign soil,
Before their time, so young to die. A generation fell,
Boys into men, they came to fight, flung into a living hell,
They had no time to say goodbye,
They came, their Union flags flying so very high.

They came with courage and with pride,
They marched together side by side,
They came, pawns of the financiers' greed,
They came, flower of youth to bleed,
To free Poland, (but not from the Reds) was the lie,
Did they ever know, the reason why?

"Nothing was gained" some say "That's plain",
Those brave young men who fought in vain,
The men that fought, those many graves,
Mocked now by politicians, who've made us slaves,
Occupied by aliens, traitors and EU; we have no say,
In memory of the fallen, build the BNP today!

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source. For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe.

The BNP is not a 'race supremacist' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different. The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racialists who are the haters since it is they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash.

To protect and preserve the racial and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes in separation.

Only in a Black society will Black kids find true Black role models. Only in a Muslim society will Muslims find their religion free from Western influence. All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland.

Nor are the BNP 'racist'. Indeed, the BNP are resisting the racist colonisation of Britain in which the native people of Britain are having their culture suppressed, their land colonised and are being discriminated against on racial grounds.

To sum up, the BNP is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British, but of all peoples.

BN BRIEFING

THE SWAMPED FILE

Refugees arriving at Dover this year have quadrupled on figures last year with 1,484 detected to July.

- 31 illegals are in police custody after being found abandoned on the M27 near Portsmouth, Hants.
- A group of Albanian asylum seekers have thanked Wallsall social services for their help. Found on the M6, hotels were arranged and interpretors found to cater for all their needs. Happily, they had relatives in London...
- Such is the smuggling traffic that 19 Albanians have died and six were injured after their dingy bound for Italy collided with another small boat and sank. Needless to say, Italy might have been their first stop, but after that, they're all coming here!

'EQUALITY' GROUP = RACISM

The mis-named Commission for Racial Equality are pressing for a change to the law to stop the exemption from the Race Relations Act of theatre and television companies casting all-white casts for historical plays and dramas. Henry V, Hamlet and many other classics will be forced to hire non-white actors. Meanwhile, the Act allows the hire of non-whites only under the anti-white section 5.2 (d).

'CHRISTIAN' QUEERS

So rife is sodomy within the Church, that the World Council of Churches has had to petition President Mugabe of Zimbabwe to waive the country's strict laws against homosexuality, for its annual jamboree to be held in Harare this December. Mugabe, who has described, 'gays' as: "Lower than dogs and pigs," has taken a lot of flack from liberals for his uncompromising views. HIV in Zimbabwe affects more than thirty per cent of the population.

THE COMING EPIDEMIC

Further to July's BN briefing which reported more than 6,000 TB cases last year and that 56% of these are of immigrants...

Dr. John Strange, TB specialist at Imperial College says of the new MDR drug resistant strain of TB: "No one is immune, and one in ten people inhaling the bacteria will develop the disease," which has a 20% mortality rate.

"All it would take would be for someone infected with MDR TB to cough in an enclosed area such as an underground station and the infection would spread like wildfire."

4 people this year have been found with MDR TB — all immigrants.

country? Why do they have to come thousands of miles to Britain?

The truth is that these people are economic migrants who are allowed to take liberties by our soft politicians at our expense.

Mr. Bernard, Oldham.

Sir — Please find enclosed my membership fee and sub to BN.

I was pleased to have our local Organiser call upon me and leave a video for me. My wife and I are both in total agreement with your policies and believe that the BNP is the only nationalist organisation able to make a stand for Britain and the British.

I subscribe to several other periodicals but find the quality of writing in BNP literature of a higher standard and I applaud your passion, credibility and long-term vision.

I look forward to assisting the party whether that be out leafleting, cutting news clippings for BN or whatever.

Martyn Blair, Bristol.

Letters

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

Sir — Just a short note about my family's trip with the BNP contingent which attended the Front National's Red, White and Blue festival in France.

We made it to our campsite a few hours late, arriving in the dark and awoke next morning to a bright and fine day and visited a WWI battle site to pay homage to our war dead there.

On the Sunday when we went to the BBR fête, we found the people very friendly and the security at the fête entrance reassuring. My BNP member's card helped overcome the language barrier! The fête was wonderful. Stand after stand and tent after tent. There were cheeses, wines, sausages, books and music all to be had. It was a wonderful carnival atmosphere.

I wasn't able to follow Le Pen's speech, but felt very much part of the event. It was wonderful to be with so many other nationalists of all age groups and backgrounds. My family very much enjoyed it and I definitely recommend it to anyone else. It's a good holiday type of way to introduce families to nationalism. I feel families are important to the future of the party and we will be going to the BBR (Blanc, Blue, Rouge) again next year. If you're going too, I'll see you there!

Dave Cadman, Leicestershire.

Sir — Mr. Blair gave us the impression before last year's election that the Labour Party would bring in Proportional Representation. Now he is very much opposed to the idea.

If P.R. is good enough for Northern Ireland and the new Scottish assembly next year, then why is it not good enough for England and the rest of the UK for elections to Westminster? What's he frightened of?

Gary Riley, Huddersfield.

Sir — How long will it be before the Department of Health rules that viagra be available on prescription on the NHS to Lesbians and Homosexuals? Homosexuals today? Released paedophiles tomorrow?

Charles Williams, Dorset.

Sir — The John Loughborough school in Tottenham, North London used to charge its pupils £2,145 p.a. in fees. The school is now grant aided and the pupils get a free education. This school, however, will only be for blacks. It is described as 'the first ever independent Christian Black Secondary School'.

Needless to say, local MP Bernie Grant has worked to get this school put on the rates. One wonders what Mr. Grant would have said if an independent White only school had been proposed? Almost certainly he'd have screamed 'racism'. Grant says: "This is a recognition of our right to educate our children our way in the public sector."

Does Mr. Grant believe that white Britons have 'the right to educate children in our way in the public sector?'

Harry Mullin, Glasgow.

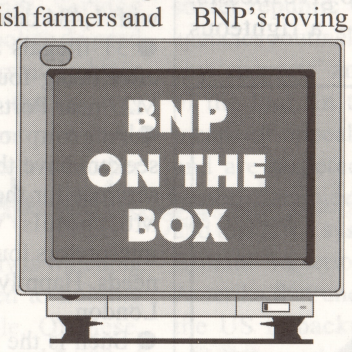

Sir — Oldham has recently seen large numbers of women appearing in long black gowns and matching headdress. Enquiries reveal that we have just had an influx of Afghanis.

The housing situation in Oldham is such that thousands of new homes are needed to accommodate these 'asylum seekers'. Later no doubt, large amounts of public money will need to be spent on projects which only these Asians will enjoy.

If these so-called asylum seekers just want to get out of their own country, why don't they just hop over the border to a neighbouring

BNP ON THE BOX!

The party received television coverage twice last month on the HTV regional news programme, concerning the crisis in farming, BNP support for British farmers and our rural policies.

The first coverage was fronted by Nick Griffin, who gave a first class interview, which was unfortunately edited down to 30 seconds. Footage was then shown of the football riots in Dublin a few years ago, which was totally irrelevant having nothing to do with either the farming crisis or the BNP. A complaint to the broadcasting Complaints Commission has been lodged over this disgraceful smear attempt to associate the party with those events. Naturally enough, a party opponent was found to speak and he expressed his fears about the growing support the party is receiving from farmers across the country. Finally, footage of Terry Cavill, the party's South Wales organiser working on his farm was shown.

The very next week saw a second BNP feature on the same evening news slot and covered the South West Dairy show at Shepton Mallet, Somerset. Here, members of the BNP's roving instant response unit in conjunction with Somerset BNP members, mingled with farmers and distributed the party's rural affairs newspaper British Countryman. The team was spotted by a bored looking journalist from HTV looking for an interesting story. That evening's coverage featured members of the team in action handing out party agricultural literature to enthusiastic rural folk. The front page of the British Countryman was held up by the reporter and the camera zoomed in for all to read. This news item was fair throughout and provided good publicity for the party. Incidentally, 1,300 BC's were distributed at this event.

The HTV region has a broadcast area covering all of South Wales and most of the West country. The evening regional news is watched by some 5 million people.

LAND AND PEOPLE!

The BNP's recruitment campaign in rural Britain moved up another gear at the end of last month with the production of a national leaflet aimed specifically at farmers — 'Who's Culling Britain's Farmers?' is a hard-hitting, two-coloured, two-sided leaflet. Produced by The BNP's rural circle — Land and People — it tells farmers about party initiatives such as the 'Buy British Beef' campaign and urges them to help build 'a new political movement, which will give the British people a voice in their own land once again'.

This campaign is certainly getting noticed by the media. The presence of a team of activists, led by South West Regional Organiser Bruce Cowd, at a big show at Shepton Mallet, Somerset (See 'BNP On The Box'), was noted on the region's prime time early evening news. The British Countryman hot-line has fielded long calls from researchers with BBC2's Newsnight, and reporters with HTV Wales and The Guardian.

Hard-working South Wales Organiser Terry Cavill, and Nick Griffin, also appeared on HTV news, with Terry coming over very well as a 'BNP farmer'.

Postbag

We could say the same in reply

SURELY as a 'democrat' Jackie Ballard MP should be happy to have all political viewpoints expressed on local and national issues that concern her constituents.

Instead, we find her "distressed" (Somerset County Gazette, August 14) at the prospect of any British National Party member being active in Taunton.

Does she not realise that similar sentiments could be expressed by those who find the policies of the Liberal Democrats offensive?

BNP PRESS PUBLICITY

BNP and freedom of speech

A LETTER was printed in Postbag (August 21) demanded that the British National Party should be denied freedom of speech.

'Name and address supplied' justified this by claiming that a BNP Government would abolish freedom of speech.

This is incorrect as the BNP takes the issue of human rights very seriously and we are particularly concerned that the 'silent majority' has no rights at present as highlighted by the present paedophile crisis in Somerset.

Bearing in mind the totalitarian Stalinist regimes that misruled eastern Europe for decades, does 'Name and address supplied' also think that Socialist parties in Britain should be denied their freedom of speech as well?

PAUL HARRIS

A small wave of excellent letters to the press have appeared just recently and confirm the value of such work, and not just at election time. Every party official and not just Organisers should be in the habit of writing to the press on a regular basis. It can and does get results. Very often, the party's contact address is also published.

Abuses of power...

COUNCILLORS to get a pay rise is a joke. Indeed!

The recent letter from E. Pollock (Mail, August 8) pointing out that vital services are either no longer available or reduced thanks to our local leaders!

Further to the closure of homes for the elderly, I would like to mention the closure of sub-police stations in some of the town's trouble spots, and the failure to provide life-saving equipment to the fire brigade.

Isn't it strange that they cannot provide for the ordinary man in the street, but they soon find cash for monstrosities such as the Angel of the North.

The abuses of local government power underlines the need for a drastic reappraisal of the whole concept of what should be the privileges and prerogatives of local councils.

The proper role of local government is to supervise the provision of necessary local amenities and services; whereas it is not the role of local government to get itself up as a state within a state and thence pursue political aims that are wholly at odds with the national leadership for which the nation has voted.

Anyway folks they have to rebuild a school first, and even then they won't deserve a pay rise!

BNP plan to set up new trade unions

I SHOULD like to clarify the British National Party's position on the trade union movement: "Unions on alert", Kentish Times August 27.

Many of our members are indeed paid up members of trade unions, some holding official positions, including my father in the T&GWU. We do not "infiltrate" trade unions, nor do we wish to disrupt any organisation that represents the rights of working people.

However, some BNP members feel that certain unions no longer serve the interests of their cardholders, but have become subservient to 'New' Labour in the latter's quest for power. This is still, very much, the case with the Labour Party now in Government.

Bexley Trades Union Council secretary, John Peters has clearly pointed out that anyone holding differing political views from his totalitarian line are to be expelled.

I can now inform you that we are now in the process of setting up a trade union structure in accordance with Britain's traditional freedoms – free from Red control.

LATE SUMMER CAMP

As winter starts to set in, BN recalls the balmy(?) days of a summer camp held in the Trossachs region of Scotland. BNP members from Scotland and England together with comrades from Scottish Blood & Honour tackled some of the many Bens & Munroes (Mountains over 3,000ft) in the Trossachs.

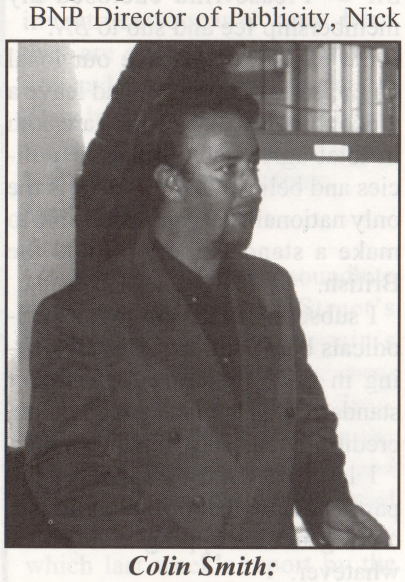

Later in the day, the group met up at the Falls of Falloch, some taking a bracing dip in the river – a tributary to Loch Lomond. Returning to camp, all 35 campers enjoyed a sumptuous barbeque before heading off to an inn to enjoy a B&H social evening. The strains of traditional Scottish music along with British Standard, Skrewdriver and Squadron filled the air to the wee sma' hours. Sunday morning was, however, a washout with the patriots peering out of their tents at the driving rain. Ah! the joys of summer!

WEST MIDS. POLITICAL EDUCATION SEMINAR

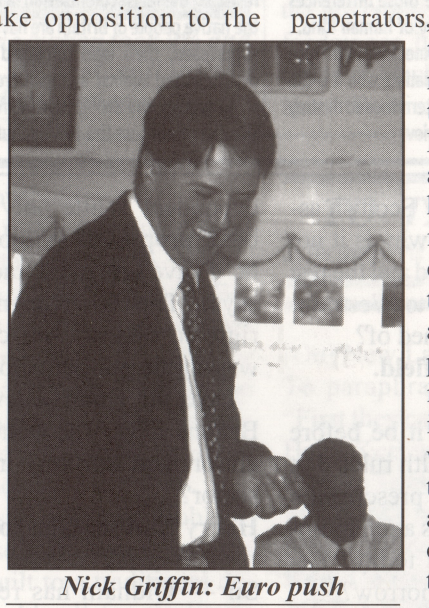

Last month saw the latest, and one of the most professional BNP political education seminars ever held. Held in a plush hotel in the rolling Warwickshire countryside, this all-day event was aimed to prepare candidates, treasurers, Organisers and activists for next year's May council elections and June Euro-election.

The 42 members present had a varied day. The opening session saw those present split into groups to work on a theme, followed by activists who had never spoken at a meeting giving competent and confident presentations on behalf of their groups.

BNP Director of Publicity, Nick Griffin, explained the importance of the Euro-election campaign, particularly the way in which it will help to make opposition to the coming European Empire 'our issue'. He also stressed that the sheer volume of BNP publicity material going out would propel the party to a totally new level of public awareness and interest.

Colin Smith: Canvassing techniques

Nick Griffin: Euro push

Richard Edmonds: Leafleting

The very professional husband and wife team, Steve and Sharron Edwards, then led an effective session on community politics. Pointing out that this grass-roots work is the foundation upon which the party will achieve its next council election breakthrough, they gave practical examples of what they themselves had done.

Steve talked the audience through the distressing case of the family of a young teenage girl who had been gang-raped in Tipton. When the council refused to re-house the girl and her family away from the perpetrators, the grandmother was told by a neighbour to call the BNP and ask for help. Steve immediately contacted the council and the police, intervening in such a way that the authorities changed their minds and provided the family with a new home.

Sharron went on to outline a number of less dramatic instances where BNP intervention had helped local residents in disputes with neighbours or with arrogant council officials.

During the lunch break, West Midlands BNP webmaster, Simon Darby, showed various potential Internet users how to explore this powerful new medium, giving them 'hands-on' experience of accessing the BNP's Web site and others. Those who hadn't had a chance to see the web for themselves before were amazed by the quality of the BNP's internet presence, complete with soundfiles and videos of BNP national and local election broadcasts.

Next on was Colin Smith, who spoke briefly about canvassing, describing it as not only a vital electioneering tool, but also as: "Far less nerve-wracking than speaking to a meeting such as this! It's easy," said Colin, "just give it a try!"

He was followed by National Organiser Richard Edmonds, who spoke on key areas of party policy, followed by Michael Newland, who gave a series of useful pointers for dealing with the media — something particularly useful for future election candidates.

The last main speaker was unknown to virtually everyone present, but made perhaps the biggest impression of the day. London BNP member Frank Forte, a professional management consultant and lecturer, gave an inspiring talk on 'Motivation and Motivating'.

Witty, thought-provoking and challenging, Frank personifies the enthusiasm and ambition which is to be found in the BNP these days, and is sure to be in big demand as a guest speaker at such events in future.

Finally, West Midlands Regional Organiser Keith Axon conducted a very confident Dutch auction, which raised £240 to pay for the venue and boost the Regional Euro-fund.

WAVE OF SUPPORT FOR BNP AFTER TALK RADIO SHOW

The plaudits are still coming in for Mike Newland's devastatingly effective performance on Talk Radio UK Thursday, 24th September. An unusually large mailbag has been received by head office in connection with this — all of which endorsed the party's policies and heaped much praise upon Mike.

BN readers need to understand that Talk Radio is the UK's biggest talk show and the James Whale late slot has the biggest audience of all. Two million listeners heard Mike's patriotic message of racial hope and national renewal offered by the British National Party.

It is not an exaggeration to call this interview a milestone along the road the BNP is taking to turn itself into a serious political force.

Of all the letters Mike/the party received, perhaps the best one was from a South Londoner formerly in the Conservative Party. BN reprints his letter below but withholds the man's name (he didn't after all write in to the party, but to Mike Newland).

BN readers should take heart from this man's letter and remember that the radio show's telephone call in was rigged against our man. The production manager told BNP member Colin Smith who was sitting right next to her in the studio that 98% of calls were in support of the BNP!

Dear Sir,

What can one say? I listened to the Thursday edition of the James Whale show, on Talk UK Radio with utter amazement. Along with my friends and associates, I am still in shock at what I found was a 100% endorsement for your party's policies expressed in such a complete moderate, level thinking and sensible way that should cause your enemies to shrink into oblivion.

Before I listened to the show I held nothing but complete contempt for the BNP. Now I am in complete agreement with your party.

At fifty-one years of age and with an academic background my sudden awakening must appear somewhat strange for you to understand. But after years of being brain-washed by the media and not being allowed access to your views; please believe me when I tell you that the vast majority of British people must also be like myself. I have wasted years of my life campaigning for the Conservative Party, and in particular, Peter Bottomley.

What I found difficult to understand, was the way you seemed to be completely calm in the face of Mr. Whales's contemptuous questioning. Before you were allowed to answer one question, another, equally untenable and crass one was forced upon you. I have seen, on many occasions, top politicians leave interviews, get angry or stutter whilst placed in exactly the same circumstance. It was very clear to the listener that the tactic of 'wind-up', adopted by Mr. Whale, backfired on him. It was he who got hot under the collar. A colleague of mine in the Conservative Party knows this journalist well and, although rather coarse in his delivery, he is known as a real pro. Believe me, it was no coincidence that he was chosen for your grilling.

The BNP seems to be growing up, and you have indeed been honest enough to declare that it was not perfect at its inception and initial onset. That honesty did not fall on deaf ears. You explained, so crucially, what needed to be said in order for the BNP to re-address the media's previous coverage. All new parties have teething troubles, but it is how the growth and progress is handled that makes the difference between a fringe group and a mainstream political party.

The British National Party has the potential to become a big movement, it really does. That's when you will have hard work on your hands and experience nasty opposition like that from Mr. James Whale.

I have spoken, on the telephone to a party representative who will be sending me more information and has kindly offered to arrange a meeting with myself. I have found a new political home, I have decided to become part of the future. I cannot thank you enough for allowing me the opportunity to wake up at last and find out the truth.

Yours faithfully,

MORE BNP PRESS PUBLICITY

Over the last couple of months, the BNP has received a good press in a number of areas and often through the letter columns of local papers. All of this starts, however, with a well-written letter from a BNP official to begin with. Below are two which have got stirred people into action and got results!

Dear David Shattock,

OPEN LETTER

It is with some regret that I find myself writing to you to remind you that the territory covered by your Constabulary includes the town of Glastonbury in Somerset. At present your officers are conspicuous by their absence whilst Travellers are openly breaking various laws of the land.

Their vehicles are death-traps and pose a danger to other road users and pedestrians. Another blatant offence committed by the Travellers is the public consumption of alcohol despite there being a by-law prohibiting this activity in Glastonbury High Street. Aggressive begging is also a major problem with local people, including pensioners, being swore at.

The good people of Glastonbury pay Council Tax to fund your Constabulary. Your officers also enjoy highly competitive salaries with a very generous pension at the end of their careers. Therefore we are entitled to a better service.

As Chief Constable it is your responsibility to ensure that the rule of law extends to the town of Glastonbury. I hope that the points raised in this letter will be addressed by your officers.

Yours

Dear Mr Edge,

OPEN LETTER

I am writing to bring to your attention the Benefits Agency's role in the problems caused by Travellers in the towns of Glastonbury and Street in Somerset. Throughout the day there are drunken rowdy scenes involving Travellers who are in receipt of Income Support.

The Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Chapter 4 Part 7 Section 124 amended by the Jobseekers Act 1995 Chapter 18 states that "A person in Great Britain is entitled to Income Support if he is available for, and actively seeking, employment."

Very few, if indeed any, of the Travellers are actively seeking work yet they are still in receipt of benefits thus allowing them to make drunken nuisances of themselves. I can only assume that this is because the DSS staff are understandably concerned of the violence that they may face if they enforced the law.

It is your responsibility to ensure that your staff are adequately protected and thus able to enforce the law. Now that this matter has been brought to your attention I trust that appropriate action will be taken.

Yours sincerely,

Above: The two letters and below the* Glastonbury and Street News *takes up the story of the party trying to improve the lot of local folk

Glastonbury and Street News

Challenged by BNP

By Michael Chamberlain

The chief constable of Somerset and Avon Police and the Benefits Agency have been challenged by the British National Party over their handling of New Age travellers in Glastonbury.

Local BNP organiser Paul Harris, in a letter to chief constable Steve Pilkington, said police are conspicuous by their absence in the town while travellers are openly breaking various laws of the land.

"Their vehicles are death traps and pose a danger to other road users and pedestrians. Another blatant offence committed by travellers is the public consumption of alcohol despite there being a by-law prohibiting this activity in the High Street," he said.

"Aggressive begging is also a major problem with local people, including pensioners, being sworn at. The good people of Glastonbury pay council tax to fund the constabulary. Your officers also enjoy highly competitive salaries with a very generous pension at the end of their careers. Therefore they are entitled to a better service."

Police spokesman Clive Gammon said that the chief constable had received the letter and it had been forwarded to the district commander for his attention.

Mr Harris has also written to Mr Tony Edge, director of the Benefits Agency, about its role in dealing with problems caused by travellers in Street and Glastonbury.

"Throughout the day there are drunken, rowdy scenes involving travellers who are in receipt of Income Support," he said

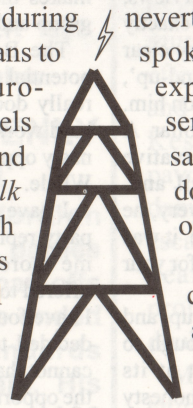

"Very few, if indeed any, of the travellers are actively seeking work yet they are still in receipt of benefits, thus allowing them to make drunken nuisances of themselves.

"I can only assume this is because the DSS staff are concerned about the violence they may face if they enforced the law. It is your responsibility to see your staff are adequately protected and thus able to enforce the law."

A spokesman at Street Jobcentre said: "We deal with all our clients in exactly the same way."

BNP SPOKESMAN ON FIVE LIVE!

October 16th saw yet another radio spot given over to the BNP as millions of listeners to Radio Five Live heard the BNP's Simon Darby speak for the party during a feature on the BNP's plans to contest next year's Euro-elections. Hard on the heels of Mike Newland's ground breaking interview on Talk Radio UK the month before, Simon Darby's interview could well represent a trend that will continue to expose the BNP to favourable news coverage in the face of a new media appetite for news on nationalism. A twenty five minute interview at the BBC's Pebble Mill studio was cut down to two short sound-bites, but Simon nevertheless came over as quietly-spoken and persuasive as he explained that the BNP is a serious political party and he said: "The race issue? Yes we do talk about it, but we have other policies as well."

Five Live's Asian commentator voiced concern at the prospect of the introduction of proportional representation since: "It will mean far-right groups could gain a voice in Europe."

Listeners were told that the BNP was trying to copy more successful nationalist parties in Europe, which had found that developing policies other than race had led to increased public support.

Of course, the BNP has always had a full compliment of policies on other issues. The difference between then and now is that until now, the media have generally contrived to ignore them. But now, by skilful campaigning and by contesting next year's European elections, the party is forcing journalists and the media to acknowledge this fact!

RECOGNITION!

Far right tries to cash in on farming crisis

James Meikle

FAR right nationalists are seeking to cash in on the crisis in the countryside. The British National Party is active in rural areas in the North-west, West Midlands, and South-west in an attempt to win votes at next year's European elections.

Members regularly attend country shows, protests and marches — and plan to increase leafleting of markets. Its leader, Nick Griffin, who has a smallholding at Powys in Wales, admits to no more than a trickle of new members so far, but says farmers gave a "sympathetic response".

The National Farmers' Union, annoyed by a BNP presence at its rally before the Labour conference in Blackpool last month, is worried but says the problem must not be exaggerated.

BNP leaflets to be distributed to farmers this week blame supermarkets, free trade politicians, European bureaucrats, big landowners, and agro-chemical companies for "culling the farmers".

Other literature aims to harness the "green idealism" of young people, while the party also says that what it terms "politically incorrect sports", hunting, shooting and even fishing, are under threat. Government policies will deprive farmers of effective firearms, leaving only police and criminals with guns, it is claimed.

Mr Griffin, who is under a suspended nine-month prison sentence for inciting racial hatred, said in last month's Spearhead, the party magazine: "The farming industry is reliant on huge quantities of imported chemicals, and vast areas of our country have been turned into a wild-life desert ... to make this worse, the entire shambles has been paid for by the British taxpayer." Yesterday he said: "We have gained members — not a huge amount, but we didn't expect that. Farmers are conservative by their very nature. We have had an enormous amount of sympathy — 'we are pleased someone understands our problem' is a typical response. We think it will be a while before the dam breaks."

Neo-fascist groups became involved in countryside protests a year ago but the persistence of the BNP is unusual. Barney Holbeche, head of parliamentary affairs for the farmers' union, said he personally would advise members "not to go anywhere near them with an elongated barge pole". The BNP had neither been invited nor welcomed at the Blackpool rally, he said, adding: "It would be wrong to get this out of proportion."

Keith Twentyman, the union's secretary for north Cumbria, was aware of canvassing, including at the Cumberland show in July, but said: "I can't imagine it will get off the ground in this part of the world. We are not renowned for being politically extreme."

It's a sign of the times that the BNP is becoming increasingly recognised as a serious political force campaigning about real people's concerns — and not just on the vitally important topic of immigration.

The Guardian at the end of last month suddenly realised that the party is exploring other avenues of development. It must have come as a surprise to lefties everywhere that the BNP has policies for the farmer. It always has had, of course, as a look at the What We Stand For section (below) shows:

The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.

Farmers as well as inner-city whites are finding themselves pitted against an inhuman system calculated to break their way of life and their identity. They have each been abandoned by establishment politicians. But not by the BNP!

Euro '99 Fund

Target £50,000 Total so far £24,714

Last month, an excellent £2,535 was raised by individuals for the party's Euro '99 fund, particularly bearing in mind that this is a 'short' month owing to BN being out late last month due to printing problems. That brings the total from individuals to £12,881. In addition, returns by Organisers show an increase of £2,300 (Most of this being declared as sitting in the Leeds BNP bank account) bringing the regional/branch total up to £11,833. This makes a grand total so far of £24,714.

This good figure mean that the BNP is catching up on this year's earlier poor figures, although the £50,000 Euro '99 appeal is still a little behind schedule. A TV broadcast and delivery of the party's election address to 16 million voters is riding on the ability of the party to raise the cash. But to do that, you need to give, to give generously, to give often and to give now. Time is fast running out on this appeal. If the party's target is to be reached, everyone must examine their conscience and their wallet — Send the biggest possible donation that you can afford now.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside, firm measures against pollution and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
